HOW WE WORK

Donations are made - Arkansas Foodbank receives food, grocery and monetary donations from retail stores, farmers, government agencies, companies and corporations, individuals and other organizations.

Food is stored - The food that is donated or purchased is stored in our 99,000 square foot warehouse in Little Rock.

Food is distributed - The Foodbank arranges pickups and deliveries for our network of more than 400 local partners across our 33-county service area.

Food reaches those in need - Food is provided to families and individuals in need through our network of partner agencies: food pantries, senior centers, schools, college campuses and emergency shelters. The Foodbank also hosts local mobile distributions during times of emergency need or disaster relief.
