

ATTENTION ARKANSAS FAMILIES MANAGING FOOD ALLERGIES

If you live in Arkansas and manage food allergies in your home and qualify, you may be able to get safe food at no cost for your participation in a study.

To participate, you must live in Arkansas, have at least one physician-diagnosed food allergy in your household, access to the Internet, and a physical address where food can be delivered. Participants must also attend monthly virtual educational webinars.

A select number of households that qualify may receive up to a $150 credit each month for six months to purchase food from an online store offering products for people managing food allergies.
